Definitions

Abuse

Abuse can be physical, sexual or verbal. It includes economic abuse (control of money). It also includes psychological abuse. This may involve "put-downs", persistent threats or forcing a woman to witness violence against her children, other relatives, friends, pets or cherished possessions. The abuser can be a boyfriend, husband, live-in lover, ex-husband or ex-lover.

Sexual Assault

Sexual assault is any form of unwanted or forced sexual activity. It includes date rape, sexual assault within marriage, sexual harassment, assault by a stranger, and child sexual abuse.

Shelters

Transition houses, interval

houses and safe shelters are places where a woman and her children can go if she has been abused physically or psychologically, or threatened with violence by her spouse or partner. They provide short-term living accommodation and crisis counselling. Counselling and support services assist women in re-establishing themselves after leaving the transition house. They may provide counselling referrals to women not needing to stay at the shelter. They frequently provide outreach educational services.

Street addresses for shelters are confidential. Please confirm that there is available space prior to making referrals. Contact the shelter in your region regarding appropriate referral procedures.
